

Textile Engineer
Product Manager (Júnior) – Porto Area

We are looking for professionals who make a difference, professionals with a will, who take companies to new heights. We want to make you happy and fulfilled professionally.

Skypro is a Portuguese company leader in innovation and sustainability in managing uniforms for large companies, with offices in Portugal, the USA, and the United Arab Emirates. Together with you, we want to be the most competent company globally to take care of the comfort of thousands of workers around the world through digital transformation. We are a happy company. Here you can be a happy professional; we will take care of you.

Main Responsibilities:

- Development of technical sheets;
- Support team on project budgeting;
- Responsible for creating references and technical characteristics of SKYPRO articles;
- Responsible for the introduction of Textile flows in SKYPRO ERP;
- Support commercial team creating tender technical responses;

Profile

- Textile Engineer
- Technical knowledge of clothing industry
- Minimum of 2 years in garments projects development (we value uniform experience);
- Innovation oriented
- High critical ability;
- Self-motivated and self-directed;
- Accountable for delivering and results;
- Willing for learning;
- Outstanding oral and written communication skills in English language;

Please apply at: <http://rh.mypeople.pt/candidatura/267>

When you send us your CV, you consent Mypeople to use your personal data for recruitment purposes and to keep it for two years. If you do not want to continue receiving our emails, you want to access, change or delete your personal data from our database before the stipulated time, you should send an email to Mypeople requesting that your information be removed.